It was also believed at least possible that a successor to Stalin already had been picked, although that would seem to be contrary to Stalin's technique for maintaining himself in absolute power.

As free world diplomats appraise the situation, Stalin has ruled during much of Communist Russia's more than three decades with an absolute, dictatorial authority—an authority not matched in any big power since the end of World War II.

Van Fleet asserted at the outset that he would not publicly discuss military planning in Korea.

"I can't, of course, talk about plans as a matter of policy—not my policy but yours," he said.

He was referring to a statement by Chairman Dewey Shor (R-Mo) that the general was under no restraint in his testimony but should use his own judgment about saying nothing "to give comfort to the enemy."

Van Fleet repeated a belief he had expressed in Korea when he was retiring from his command—that the United Nations could have won a military victory in the spring of 1951.

He said that after a Communist offensive was beaten back the United Nations forces had crippled the Reds so seriously they could have driven on to victory if the U. N. command had not ordered a halt after the Communists suggested truce talks.

of it," the secretary said with surprise. "It seems to me nobody knew about it."

A spokesman for general assembly President Lester B. Pearson of Canada commented: "This is news of the most extraordinary importance."

Other delegations said they would withhold comment until word is received from their home capitals, but one leading diplomat said privately:

"This means a repetition, only much stronger, of the situation last fall when the U. N. was awaiting the outcome of the American election."

There appeared little doubt that Stalin's stroke meant the end of serious maneuvers for peace in the current session of the U. N. general assembly. It obviously stopped all speculation about a possible get-together between President Eisenhower and the Russian leader.

Cherry Favors Tax on State Bauxite

By RAY STEPHENS

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Cherry said today that if the Senate passes a House bill to raise the severance tax on bauxite he will sign it.

Pressed by reporters to take a stand on the tax increase, Cherry replied, "If they pass it, I'll sign it and that's all I'm going to say."

The bill, which has not been called up in the Senate, levies a tax on bauxite ranging from 25 cents to a $1.25 per short ton. The present tax is 10 cents per short ton.

The revenue would be divided among the state apportionment fund, the state hospital and the colleges.

Cherry also spoke out again this morning against critics of his proposed constitutional amendment to revise property tax assessments.

"The people who are against my proposal are opposing it in principle," said Cherry. "All they are trying to do is keep the people from voting on it. Anytime you find somebody trying to stop a public vote, you'd better look into it because they are probably wrong."

"I'm going to make every effort to see that the people get a chance to vote for tax revision."

Cherry said, however, that if the Legislature decides against placing the amendment on the ballot at the next general election, "I'm going to forget it because if it is not done now it will never be done in my life time."

Tretakov and I. Kuperin, chief of the Medical Sanitary Board of the Kremlin. The previous minister of health was Y. I. Smirnov.

Tass, the official news agency, telephoned foreign correspondents a brief bulletin about 7:20 a. m. The AP correspondents in Moscow called their London and Paris offices immediately, with the calls going through quickly. These calls were placed from the central telegraph office. The lines had to be held while censors cleared news copy for transmission abroad. All copy was subject to censorship.

Soon the news of Stalin's illness blanketed the Soviet capital with a pall of grief. In the streets people huddled into little groups. As they moved on, only one sentence was heard—over and over again—"Stalin is ill. Stalin is ill. Stalin is ill."

At the office of Tass, the girl who handed out the agency's bulletins to foreign correspondents was red-eyed from weeping.

People surrounded the newspaper stands scattered throughout the city as the morning editions carrying the government announcement and the medical bulletin were sold.

At points in the city where the earliest copies of Pravda were posted on walls, dozens of Russians gathered to read the details, they were a still and somber lot as they absorbed the news.

JAYNE'S P.W. tablets KILL PIN-WORMS

(You may have them and not know it)

Pinworms, even pinworms and a few other small bugs are often told to you by the doctor. They are tiny creatures that medical experts say are found in the bowels of every child. They are not dangerous, but they are annoying and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, these tablets must not only be killed, but they must be taken where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P.W. tablets do. They kill them where they live.

Pinworms are annoying, causing itching, and the tablets enter the bowels and kill them. Then Jayne's P.W. tablets, medically approved, instantly go right to work - kill Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, take your druggist for Jayne's P.W. tablets. They are the only tablets that kill Pin-Worms in the bowels.

JAYNE'S P.W. for PIN-WORMS

accompanied by Miss Elsie Gentry, sang two spiritual songs.

The tables were beautifully decorated with spring flowers and a delicious dinner was served to the members and one guest, Mrs. Odie Dehan.

Mrs. Ann Cole and Miss Joe Smith served as hospitality committee.
